FROM THE PASTOR

Dear Friends in Christ:

Whenever a change in pastoral leadership occurs at an established congregation like First, incoming clergy owe a debt of gratitude to their predecessors. Each previous pastor contributed something unique to the tapestry of the church, leaving a lasting impact on the facilities and worship life, and especially on the hearts and minds of those they shepherded.

In 1 Corinthians 3, Paul compares the church to a farmer's field and notes that each successive pastor has a different function and style. Some plant, some water, but it is only God working through them that produces the harvest. Likewise, Paul also compares congregational leadership to the building in the construction process. Some pastors lay the foundation and others build upon it. But in the end, it is the Holy Spirit that crafts believers (metaphorically speaking) into a temple—the dwelling place of God.

So, I offer thanks to Pastor Jan, Pastor Dave, and everyone who came before me – all the way back to those Decatur Presbyterians overcome by the Congregational spirit in 1888. By opening themselves up to the movement of God's Spirit, faithfully serving both the Lord and the members of this church, the groundwork for the ministry you and I will share together has been laid.

Most importantly, thanks be to God, who blessed this congregation with such capable and kind servants.

And now, our work begins! The handoff has taken place, a new era has begun. Together, guided by the Holy Spirit, let this church be a city on a hill, a candle burning brightly on a lampstand for all people to see—not for our glory but for the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.

I am a firm believer that God has wonderful things in store for this church and our community. I also believe God has given us everything we need to accomplish his will. My goal as your pastor will be to draw out those talents, insights, words, visions, and actions that God has placed inside each of you for the growth of Christ's kingdom.

I've got my watering can. I've got my rake. I've got my hoe and my gardening gloves. I am so excited to join you working in this field, and I can't wait to see what God will build through us.

Pastor Jan's Article

Yesterday I toured the Humane Society's Macon County Animal Shelter. I was struck by the care and attention given to each cat and dog. Volunteers were out walking the large dogs and they were having a great time in the warm sunshine! The cats were all lounging in that wonderful glassed in play porch and I have pictures of what 'toys' I would like to have for my four fur-kids. Such care was being taken with each animal, it was striking to me to see the real love and tenderness the human caregivers showed to these discarded or orphaned animals. Each had a name and were called by their name. Each had wrapped towels and toys and sleeping beds and comfort blankets. Their needs were met by the ones who have stepped up to care for them and find them good and loving homes. Each one of those abandoned bundles of energy and love were excited to have human touch and love shown to them. Their need was painfully obvious. They need a home!

It dawned on me that we humans are not all that different from these shelter animals. Everyone needs a home, someone to care for them, a few creature comforts, decent food and shelter, a toy and someone to play with once in a while. We need attention, we need affection, we need love. Our awesome God has provided for exactly what we need in this life through the earth we have been given! We have food to eat and beds to sleep in, we have those who care for our health, and those who care for our spirits. We have friends who care and we have love to share....God's love has made all this possible. We are created in God's image which means we have the ability to do the same for others - 2 or 4 footed, winged or scaled or finned.

Perhaps during the upcoming Lenten Season a couple of us will feel called to help out our brothers and sisters in need. Perhaps a few more of us will feel called to reach out to our animal friends and provide safety and a home filled with love. Perhaps a someone or two will volunteer to help out at one of the local animal shelters or feel compelled to reach out to those who must live in homeless shelters. There is always a need to provide care and love and support for those who share this life with us.

As you begin the Lenten Journey to Jerusalem with your new Pastor, Ryan Travis, remember that he has come into your midst to help you draw closer to God and to do those things which will reflect God's image to the world.

Blessings and Thanks for being God's people in Decatur!

Jan Johnson

THANK YOU

I would like to thank everyone at First Church for your support and prayers over the last few months. A special thank you to everyone who sent cards and messages and to the ladies for the beautiful blanket they made. My treatment is completed, my prognosis is excellent and hopefully life can get back to normal once more. Thank you all for your continued support and faith. They are priceless.

Pastoral Care Ministry would like to thank all those attending the Card-Making Day on Saturday February 4 in the Choir room. Approximately 60 - 70 cards were made. Bette Fankhauser, Shelly Smith, Sheila Mannweiler, Betty Cummings, Darla Weltmer, Ellen Starace, Alice Huebner, and Jodi Baldwin assembled cards and enjoyed lunch together. Sue Bunselmeyer and Judi Carpenter were unable to attend but made cards on their own. If you missed this event, there will probably be another card-making day within the next few months

Dear FCUCC Family and Friends,

I would like to extend an enormous Thank You to everyone in my church family. I have received love, support, gifts, and prayers beyond belief over the past several months. I am extremely grateful for everyone and all that you have done for my family and me. I had a very rough transition going back to school almost immediately after having surgery and I often felt like quitting. I received an abundance of get well cards and letters every day from my church family that helped keep me going. On days I did not feel like I could continue with school I would look at all the cards I received and it they would push me forward. The past semester was very hard for me but I was able to overcome with a 4.0 GPA due to all of your love and support.

I went to my 3-month check up with my oncologist back in December and my blood results came back better than I could have asked for. I overcome my daily health struggles often through humor and a lot of prayer. I have many more hurdles to overcome in my life time and I know I will be successful because I have such a loving and supportive church family to help guide me through this difficult time.

Thank you all again, for being there for me throughout my time of need.

God Bless you all,

Olivia Wernecke

God bless you on your birthday and each day the whole year through. May all His blessings bring you joy in everything you do.
